Morten Stig Christensen

I am a digital designer from Copenhagen. With a background in frontend design and development, my primary strength is within app and website design.

I am a happy guy that loves to be challenged and get creative. As most people do, I naturally start to open up once I know someone better. When that happens you will find out that I like to joke around a bit, and that I am the kind of person that happily would give a helping hand if needed. But I am also the kind of guy that loves to chill and enjoy a nice glass of wine or a bottle of beer.

In my spare time I play football with my friends once or twice a week, and a year ago I became an uncle to an incredible nephew. Therefore, I also see my family quite often, which are some really lovely and quality moments, that I really enjoy. When that has been said, what I probably spent most of my time on, is actually following up on the latest trends and published websites, mostly on on awwwards. In addition to that I probably watch way too many movies and series, and if that is not happening, then I usually hangout or go out with my friends.
